

New Build Site

Category of job:
Residential

Location:
Cheltenham

These houses were ultra-modern both inside and out. The attention to detail and level of finish throughout needed to be extremely high.

These very contemporary houses near Cheltenham were constructed by a very large developer based in Gloucestershire. Built to an exceptional standard, we installed a large amount of technology including full heat recovery systems and air source heating to deliver exceptionally environmentally friendly and efficient units.

Each house had bespoke kitchens and underfloor heating to each of the three floors, very high-end TV and AV systems, and extensive structured cable networks.

Our client was delighted with the end product.
